

Rio Tomatlan

El Rincon Mexicano authentic Pacific coast cuisine...

Here at Rio Tomatlan we have the honor of introducing you to one of the worlds finest Spirits. Tequila by Mexican Law is only produced around the western city of Tequila in the state of Jalisco . When we go home to visit Tomatlan the namesake of this restaurant, we see rolling waves of agaves planted in perfect rows waiting to be picked by the jimador, just like the seas of corn fields in beautiful upstate New York. The rich volcanic soils of Jalisco are perfect for the Blue Agave which by strict regulation is the only type of agave used to create "Tequila". All other Agave spirits fall under the mezcal category "the worm category" which is NOT tequila, yet distillation is very similar following authentic southern Mexican traditions. With 100% Blue Agave many distillers vary their presentation, some rest for 29 days, some for 40, some in oak and others in bordeaux barrels. Some are rested with coriander to create that fire that warms you from the inside, others take notes of vanilla, oak, chocolate, honey and others make it so smooth you don't believe its tequila. The Mexican government regulates three categories of Tequila. Blanco "White" silver or plata is an unaged spirit bottled immediately after distillation or aged for less than two months in oak. Reposado meaning rested is aged a minimum of two month but less than 365 days and Añejo is aged from one year to three years. anything aged longer than three years is considered Extra Añejo. Remember everything we carry is considered Premium so enjoy and drink responsibly.
